

COVID-19

A MESSAGE TO OUR VALUED CUSTOMERS

Power Engineering Corporation's first priority is the safety, health and well-being of our employees, customers, suppliers, their families, and our communities. We are actively monitoring the news about COVID-19 and taking necessary precautions to ensure our office remains open, and our team of project managers and technicians are available to serve our customers safely and responsibly.

We understand the concern and uncertainty surrounding the COVID-19 and are committed to being responsive to the needs of our customers during this serious public health event. We want you to know we are here to help, especially at a time when our services play a key role in maintaining your HVAC equipment, even when you are not there.

We are actively following the guidelines recommended by our local, state, and federal officials. We will continue to assess our business practices as this public health event develops so that we can serve you, our customers, safely and responsibly.

In addition to instructing our staff to remain out of office/field if they or any of their family members are displaying signs of illness, we have reinforced the following precautionary measures to our employees as recommended by the CDC.

- We have instructed our employees and encourage frequent hand washing, use of hand sanitizer when available, and the use of tissues or elbows rather than hands when coughing or sneezing.
- We have instructed our employees on the practice of Social Distancing, including the avoidance of handshakes and close physical contact.
- We are committed to continuing to maintain a clean office area, workspaces, and company vehicles.

We care very much for our employees and our community and want to help protect those that are most vulnerable. Thank you for working with us to help keep everyone safe and as healthy as possible.

We will continue to update our guidelines as the situation evolves.
